Will It Be Ok To Drive Drunk ? ? ?

IN THE VALLEY OF THE MOON

Well . . . Well . . . Well . . . It seems to be alright to drive drunk in the City of Santa Rosa, according to the various courts . . .

The appellate division of the Sonoma County Superior Court has upheld a Santa Rosa Municipal Court dismissal of a drunk driving case . . .

Seems while the C.H.P. were checking the brakes of several trucks, one of the drivers fell out of his cab "drunk" . . . Being good law enforcement officers and interested in the welfare and safety of the public, the driver was arrested for drunk driving . . .

Now the Courts have ruled you can't do that!!!

Now the question is . . . Should the police have let the drunk truck driver take his big loaded truck, and in a few minutes receive a call to investigate an accident a few blocks down the highway, to find a family in a passenger car all mangled? ? ?

After the Coroner made out his report that the man and his wife were killed their two children were crushed and sent to the hospital for several months of treatment Then charge the truck driver with drunk driving . . . To have him get up in court and say: "I couldn't have been drunk, I just left several policemen at a brake inspection stop and if I had been drunk why didn't they hold me? ?/?"

Case Dismissed!!!

Thank you,
The Publisher
